Further Weakness in Coal Stocks-The Market Dull and Tending Lower.

WALL STREET, SATURDAY, May 20-6 P. M. Scenes change as quickly on the Stock Exchange as they do in a pantomime, and "realms of ecstatic bliss" shift into "back attics of pandemonium" with a celerity that takes one's breath away. The glare of the lime light and the glitter of Dutch metal which flashed into prominence the Pacific mail performances of the last wo days were this morning transferred to Central and Hudson and the coal stocks. Of these specialties we propose to say a word.

While the price of the great railroad has been hanging about 110 for days past it has been remarked that ares were quietly picked up at these figures, and that although transactions were upon a limited scale ere was no recession in the quotation. To-day, however, popular report stated the veteran Com-modore to be more than usually infirm in health. The result of this belief was to bring to market an inusual quantity of stock-some 10,000 shares in allhich were absorbed by a representative of Mr. Vanlerbilt's brokers as fast as they appeared at the stan dard price of 110, as we have remarked above. At this figure, or somewhat better, even, the security closed. though the stock was sparingly offered on seller's op-tions of 108 for sixty days—a bart which did not even elicit a nibble. Some, indeed, thought that they traced these purchases to the Forty-seventh street Mephistophiles and a desire to cover his long outstanding short line; but there can be no question that sick or well the Ancient Mariner is still able to mount his hobby and prove to the Stock Exchange that, unlike Lear, he is anything but

A poor, infirm, weak and despised old man.

Delaware and Lackawana and New Jersey Central came up smiling to the scratch, like a first class bruiser of the P. R., but were knocked out of time store their hands had been up an hour. at 105. Delaware and Lackawanna sold down to 1025 cash, with seller's option thirty and sixty lays of from 1 a 1% below the regular though there was a slight rally to 103 at the close. New Jersey Central's highest point was 84%, but it received "one for his nob" in almost the first round, and came to earth at 83, with scarcely any passes in the way of transactions worth speaking of. During the e time the stock was offered at nearly 3 per cent under the eash price on seller's sixty options, a proing which is a good deal like striking a man when is down and has no friends, which seems be the case with the New Jersey coal carrier. doubt large amounts of these bitherto favorite ecurities have been sold out by holders for investment, who, perceiving a slim chance for dividends in the future, have followed the example of the cunning rats in the fable, and deserted the sinking ship. Among these rodents are quoted the names of Moses laylor, Samuel Sloan and the Astor estate.

Even Delaware and Hudson, which has been keeping stiff upper lip, as becomes a ten per cent dividend payer, begins to show signs of debility in the dribbling onto the market of fractional shares at a decline of 108 The courage of investors seems to be oozing ort tike Bob Acres', and it is to be hoped with as pru dential results.

There was no quorum again this morning at the meeting of Pacific Mail directors, which make the mat-ter look still more like a put up job to avoid an election, and an ultimate handing over of the company's mets to Gould, Dillon & Co., under foreclosure proceed-ngs.

Apropos of the above there occurred a sudden bounce in Union Pacific to 62 and a failing back to 60%, which was as unaccountable as are the back leaps of an untamed mustang and purposes out of to-day's speculations, exhibiting a fair show of strength for the greater part of the session, but falling off at the end and closing weak at prices to be found below. A report of further reducon in-freights and tariff for messages, added to information, true or false, that the Commodore had a turn for the worse, helped to depress these stocks.

The close of the market offered a weak and feverish tate of things, which the great medicine men of the Board will have to look after on Monday.
